

MRIs and Data Sharing

Kate LeMay

Senior Research Data Specialist

6 December 2017

The Australian National Data Service (ANDS) makes Australia's research data assets more valuable for researchers, research institutions and the nation.

The medical research data sharing landscape

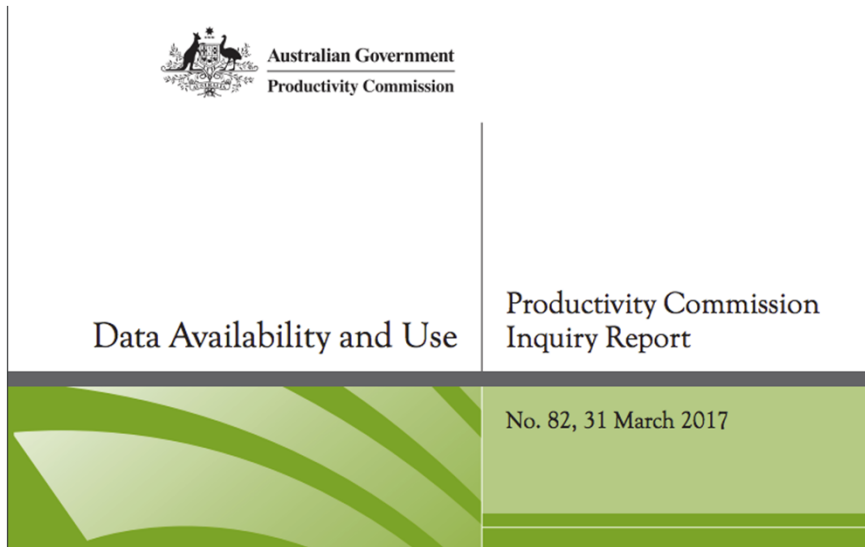

wellcome

BILL & MELINDA
GATES foundation

The medical research data sharing landscape

ICMJE INTERNATIONAL COMMITTEE of MEDICAL JOURNAL EDITORS

The NEW ENGLAND
JOURNAL of MEDICINE

BMJ

Data management and sharing

Advantages

- Efficiency
- Protection
- Data quality
- Compliance
- Increase exposure of research outputs
 - Collaboration
 - Impact

Principles

ands.org.au

- Data Management Plans
- Data publication
- Data citation
- Data licensing
- Consent and ethics

What can ANDS offer to MRIs?

Resources

ands.org.au

ands.org.au/medical

- Guides
 - Sharing sensitive data
 - De-identification
 - Ethics committees
- Self-directed learning program (10 M&H Things)

Education/discussion

- Webinars
- Events
- Virtual meetings
- Journal data policies

Kate LeMay

Senior Research Data Specialist

kate.lemay@ands.org.au

@katelemayands

ANDS, Nectar and RDS are supported by the Australian Government through the National Collaborative Research Infrastructure Strategy Program (NCRIS).

With the exception of third party images or where otherwise indicated, this work is licensed under the Creative Commons 4.0 International Attribution Licence.

NCRIS
National Research
Infrastructure for Australia
An Australian Government Initiative